Upon registration, the student will receive a Registration Confirmation Email with information on how to access ISI courses online.

Course Introduction

This course will consist of reading text and handouts as well as lectures. Assignments primarily consist of applying the material. Some assignments utilize case studies. You will often be asked to add your thoughts. Some of the material is straight forward, and there are specific answers for which I am looking. I think these will be obvious. Others, such as writing treatment plans, require you to think through the assignment using materials and adding your thoughts. As long as I see the effort and following the basic guidelines I provide, you'll do fine. I like to see creative approaches.

Course Objectives

The goals of this class are:

1. Gain an understanding of the basics of record-keeping, including legal aspects and how record keeping can help you and your client
2. Experience record keeping from a client perspective as well as a counselor perspective
3. Understand record keeping requirements for the State of Idaho
4. Understand the basics of Case Management
5. Learn how to access community resources for case management.

Upon completing this course, I expect students to be prepared for entry-level employment in the field of addictions counseling and/or case management.

About the Course Developer

I earned an M.Ed. in 1993 and a Ph.D. in 1999 in Counseling and Human Services from the University of Idaho with a minor in Psychology. I have been a licensed psychologist in the state of Idaho since 2001. I am the owner and supervisor of Weeks and Vietri Counseling, where we provide individual, group, couples, and family counseling. We provide mental health and addictions counseling, and we have been the treatment providers for

1-PSYC 574

Latah County Drug Court since the program started. I have worked as a social worker and hospice. I currently provide counseling, consulting, and instruction as a university psychology instructor.

Lesson 1 Basics of Documentation

Lesson Objectives

The course is arranged into two sections.

Part 1: Documentation

Part 2: Case Management

Reading Assignment

Watch the short introductory video lecture titled Lecture 1.mp4

Introductory Lecture

Paperwork is essential, although often not the favorite component of the job. If not documented, then later judgment may be that it did not happen. Paperwork serves as your memory and keeps you focused on the treatment goals, a record of what was discussed in the prior session, and the progress being made.

Forms that start the process:

- Intake form
- Release of information
- Upon meeting with a client:
- Clients determine the goals
- Review progress that is being made in the treatment
- Discharge plan to guide treatment

Requirements for forms:

- Must fill out forms in ink.
- Every line on a form must be filled in, so someone else can't fill in blanks later.
- If something is changed on a form, draw a line through the change, and then the counselor and the patient initial and date the change.
- If anything is added, add the information and then initial and date the additions.

Written Assignment - 25 Points Possible

Before beginning the first written assignment, refer to the Course Rules in BbLearn for your instructor's assignment requirements.

There is a short video attached for you to listen to, then answer the following questions.

Why is paperwork important? 10 points

Why is it necessary to make sure every line is filled in on every form? 4 points

Why should forms be completed in ink rather than pencil? 3 points

What is the proper way to cross something out on a form if you make a mistake? 4 points

I gave a brief overview of the flow of paperwork, starting with intake. What are the other four categories of paperwork referred to? 4 points
