Note from the Playwright
The bond between two sisters can be quite extraordinary. Our sisters are often the one person we admire, compete with, feel jealous, resentful, loyal, and protective of, and perhaps more than anything, for whom we feel a powerful all-encompassing love. This story is a celebration of that love. This play is dedicated to my sister, Stacie, and to all the sisters. -- Kellie Stonebrook

KELLIE STONEBROOK (Playwright) moved to Chicago a few years ago from Lansing, Michigan to pursue theater in one of America’s biggest and best comedy hubs. She graduated Summa Cum Laude from DePaul University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Communication Studies and is currently pursuing a Master of Fine Arts degree in Playwriting from the University of Idaho as a remote student. Tonight’s reading is a play written for her U of I playwriting class.

She has acted in many stage productions, both comic and dramatic (The Search for Signs of Intelligent Life in the Universe, The Shape of Things), television commercials (Detroit Chevy Dealers), and in film (Oz the Great and Powerful). She appeared with an improvisational comedy group (Skildtrade, led by Second City alum Rico Bruce Wade).

Also, Kellie works as a children’s storyteller, puppeteer, and ventriloquist. Booked by Dynamic West School Assemblies, she has performed her original material for schools, child cares, and libraries all over Michigan. She sometimes attends the VentHaven Convention, the annual gathering of the world’s best ventriloquists, where she has studied in workshops with Comedy Central’s Jeff Dunham, Soap’s Jay Johnson, and Terry Fator of America’s Got Talent. Kellie is very excited to share this play with all of you.

ABOUT FIRST BITE PLAY SERIES

A fall showcase for emerging U of I Master of Fine Arts playwrights, featuring free staged readings of new works. Each performance is followed by a question-and-answer session with the playwright.

About the Master of Fine Arts in Theatre Arts (M.F.A.) at University of Idaho

The Master of Fine Arts degree at University of Idaho is a rigorous two to three year, 60-72 credit degree designed for students wishing to prepare themselves for a career in the professional theatre in the areas of Dramatic Writing, Directing, Pedagogy, Stage Management or Design and Technology. The MFA is also the terminal degree expected for individuals teaching at the university or college level. Degree tracks in areas of design, directing, performance, playwriting and technical production are built around specific curriculum categories and individual courses are selected by the candidate in consultation with his or her major professor.
